Please explain in detail your comment, suggestion, or observation:

I currently have a case pending in the 14th judicial circuit court in Randolph County for a habeas corpus. My question is: The court received a judicial notice to be filed in my case on April 16th, 2010 . It was delivered via USPS certified mail. I have delivery confirmation that it was delivered at 9:50 a.m. I have spoken to the clerk and it is sitting on the judges desk but has still to date not been recorded into the record. The clerk told me she would get it recorded but so far it has not been recorded. Is there a time frame the courts have to follow in recording documents into the record? They are purposely obstructing correspondence to the record. Is this not falsifying the record since all documents are not being posted. Are they not required to keep accurate records?
